

NEWBEAUTY®

The Beauty
Authority™

WINTER
SPRING
2025

SPECIAL ISSUE

FAB
OVER
40

NEWBEAUTY.COM

DISPLAY UNTIL MARCH 31, 2025

ROBERT DALY/GETTY IMAGES. IMAGES USED FOR ILLUSTRATIVE PURPOSES ONLY

BEFORE

AFTER

CASE 02

PICTURE PERFECT

PATIENT:
Georgia, 63

LOCATION:
Austin, TX

PROCEDURES:
Facelift, necklift, eyelift and lip lift

FACIAL PLASTIC SURGEON:
Yula Indeyeva, MD

PROCEDURE DETAILS

“At 63, I decided to have a deep-plane facelift and necklift. I also opted for upper and lower eyelid blepharoplasty and a lip lift to refresh the areas that had started to bother me. Despite years of good skin care, Botox and fillers, my jawline had softened, my neck sagged and my upper lip appeared longer. Dr. Indeyeva’s attention to detail gave me confidence that my results would look natural. She explained that my thicker skin required specialized techniques to ensure the best outcome.”

WHY I HAD A FACELIFT

“I’ve always taken good care of my skin. Even into my 50s, I felt good about how I looked. But by 60, I noticed my jawline disappeared, my neck sagged and my eyes hooded. I didn’t have wrinkles, but everything drooped. The turning point was planning for my son’s wedding. I had begun to hate being in photos, so I knew it was time to act.

The surgery was intense, but I didn’t experience deep pain—just tightness. For the first week, I could barely open my mouth and relied on applesauce and a straw to eat. Over time, the tightness and swelling eased, but even nine months later, I still have some numbness and tingling as the nerves reconnect.”

MY RESULT

“When I look in the mirror now, I just see myself. My results don’t scream, ‘I had surgery.’ I feel like me again. My friends have all commented that I look younger. One asked me if I had lost weight or done something to my hair. Another said I look 30 years younger.

My husband initially worried I might look overdone, but he’s now thrilled with the result. That was my biggest fear, too—that I wouldn’t look like myself. But my surgeon gave me exactly what I wanted: a refreshed, natural look.

I’m so glad I did this, especially before the wedding. Now I feel confident taking pictures and don’t feel the need to hide. I’d absolutely do it all again.”